SCHUTZ TO REMAIN AT PUBLICITY POST FOR NEXT QUARTER

Public Relations Manager Shows High Average During Semester

After a lengthy discussion on whether or not the position of Director of Student Affairs should be changed into two different positions, the Executive Board at its last meeting of the term Tuesday decided that it should remain as it is.

It was suggested that there should be not only a Public Relations director, but also a secretary to aid the student body treasurer. The Board, however, agreed to leave the job in its present status for the spring semester, and any necessary changes will be made in May.

Dave Schutz, who was retained as publicity director for this coming semester, reported that approximately 210 stories, 38 pictures and 1122 inches of publicity for the college have been printed by the downtown papers.

The stories which have been published have had to do mostly with sports, though there have also been some along news lines.

A free concert will be given in the First Baptist Church on January 19 at 12 o'clock, announced Dick Gordon, Music Federation representative.

It was suggested by Curt Buttles that some time this spring a day be set aside as Red Cross Day on the campus. The motion was passed with the reservation that Jean Van Arsdale, Vi Nicoloff and Dorothy Foppiano will handle the drive.

'Prof. Quiz' Show Slated For KQW Saturday Hook-up

"Quiz the Prof." will be broadcast from the Telenews Theater on Saturday next at 2:45 over KQW. Plans are completed for the participation of the studio audience are now under discussion, according to Sam Elkind, general manager of the Radio Guild.

SPARKLING MODERATORS

Ken Craig, program director of KQW, will act as moderator, along with Dr. Baxter M. Geeting, faculty advisor. Those two gentlemen of comedy and ex-MC's of the Chickens' Ball, Bob Sweeney and George Fenneman, will act as "Quizmasters." Guest professors and the theater audience round out the show.

State students are urged to hand in questions for the broadcast. They may be on any subject and the name of the sender will be read over the air. Questions may be put in Bob Sweeney's post box, number 63, Sam Elkind's post box, number 189, or in Dr. Geeting's box.

ORIGINAL PLAYS

Drama shows depicting the work of the Red Cross, are being produced Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. over KYA by the Radio Guild. The plays are originals written by students. Talent for these broadcasts is selected from the Franciscan Players.

In this manner, the Radio Guild is doing its part in helping to raise the $800,000 that San Francisco is asked to contribute to the national fund of $50,000,000.

Linotype Howls Noisy Protest

Machine Swears Full Rebellion

Every hear of a talking machine? We have one!

"Well, thank heavens, this semester is about over," sighed the linotype.

Jack Spann, San Francisco State College printer, looked under the chair he was sitting on to see where the voice had come from. Then he eyed the linotype suspiciously.

"Did I hear you say something?" he asked.

"Certainly. Is there anything wrong with that?"

"Oh, no," Spann answered. "I've been expecting this. I knew I'd go crazy some day hanging around here."

"It's no wonder," clanked the machine, "what with this wingy outfit around here all day. I don't see how we stand it."

Spann shook his head. "Does it get you, too?" he asked.

"Does it get me?" the machine howled. "Does it get me? With Ruge bellowing like a gored water buffalo, and Lynch whining like a siren with asthma, because their damned copy isn't in. And Berns and Conway—those two should be modeling strait-jackets." Spann made a mental note that he'd probably be doing the same if anyone caught him talking to a linotype. The machine was still growling.

"And Louise Winter and Bill Marrinan, Luigi Repetto and Dot Martin, Dick Wallace and that punchy pug, what's his name—oh, yeah, Terry Kilpatrick. Not to mention Sherm Grant, Virginia Howard, 'Scoop' Scholten, Grid Dorr, John Thomas, June Gyselbrecht, Betty Mathias, Ree Anderson, Ralph Stone, Betty Cloak, Lorraine Staker, and that Hourcade—and all the rest of them. Met Opera Star For Next Oratorio At Opera House

State students will have the opportunity to hear the nationally known Metropolitan baritone, John Charles Thomas, when he appears at the opera house in connection with the Oratorio Society of San Francisco, Tuesday evening, January 20, at 8:30.

The first part of the program will be devoted to music by contemporary composers, featuring choral and vocal arrangements of some of the most famous works of Gretchaninoff, Sibelius, Malotte, Cain, and others.

Climaxing the evening, Waldemar Jacobsen, director of the Oratorio chorus, will conduct the cantata for baritone and chorus, "I Hear America Singing." This ode to democracy was taken from poems by Walt Whitman, and set to music by George Kleinsinger.

Mr. Thomas will interrupt his schedule in Hollywood, where he is making the picture, "Kingdom Come," to appear with the Oratorio Society for this concert.

Recreation Camp Canceled, Due to World Conditions

The recreation camp which has been sponsored by San Francisco State College for the last four years, is not to be held this coming summer, according to Dean Walter J. Homan.

"Existing national emergency and world conditions make it seem an unwise move to hold the camp," stated Dean Homan.

The first summer camp was held in 1936 at Big Basin, California Redwood Park. This was the first coeducational camp of its kind in the United States.

Four successful camps followed, three of them were located at Cazadero, California, and the fourth at Kirkwood Lake, in Amador county.

The 1942 Recreation Camp was to have been held on Silver Lake, in Amador County, under the direction of Dan Farmer.

Bib 'n' Tucker to Hold Tea

During the holidays the Bib 'n' Tucker held their Mid-Winter Dance at the Cliff Hotel. The music was supplied by Larry Cannon and his orchestra.

An installation tea will be held January 21 in one of the city hotels.

Printer Is Fearful For Own Sanity

der I'm nuts!" "Well, this is the last one until next semester," murmured Spann, vowing to himself never again to eat a salami and fried egg on rye for lunch.

"Look, Jack," said the machine, "this is the last one for this semester, but most of these crack-pots will be back next quarter. Maybe even that Addiego creature might come back, and Spann, I'm warning you now—"

"Now, take it easy. Take it easy," Spann urged. "It's just as tough on me."

"Well, I'm just warning ya, that's all," the machine snarled, spitting two paragraphs of lead on the floor. "Wha'dya say you and me go find some water hole and have a couple shots of lubricating oil?"

"Look," said Spann, getting up and grabbing his hat. "Maybe I'm crazy for standing here talking to you, but if you think I'm going to walk down Market street with a two ton linotype, YOU'RE crazy."

And with that he fled out of the college print shop and shut the door on another semester's editions of the Golden Gate.

Talent For Defense Program Planned By 3 Departments

Every organized group or individual on the campus having talent to contribute for entertainment during this emergency will be called to service, according to a plan recently worked out by students and faculty.

Distinction is made between groups already organized for this purpose, such as the men and women's Physical Education departments, Music Federation, Speech Arts department, and groups or clubs not especially prepared for furnishing entertainment. The first group will follow this procedure:

- 1 The faculty sponsor will, as in the past, make arrangements for any off-campus entertainment.
- 2 The sponsor will file with the Registrar the date, time, and place of entertainment, and the mode of transportation.
- 3 Sponsor will ascertain whether or not minors have permission to participate in such activities after 5 p.m.

Those interested in offering services for entertainment not affiliated with the groups mentioned above will be under the supervision of the student-faculty committee, of which Dr. Geeting is chairman. This committee will study

Economy Pledge May Be Signed To Aid Defense

As a consumer, in the total defense of democracy, I will do my part to make my home, my community, my country, ready, efficient and strong.

I will buy carefully.

I will take good care of the things I have.

I will waste nothing.

"All of S. F. State's employees and faculty members have signed this pledge, and now we are offering the same privilege to the students," said Dr. R. C. Cave, professor of economics, who is acting for the government in the acquisition of signatures in allegiance to this vital declaration.

Under the present chaotic conditions of the world it is truly the duty of each and every student to thoroughly support this oath.

But, of course, we want the signatures of only those who really intend living up to the principles set forth," Dr. Cave added.

All of those who wish to sign this solemn pledge will please go to Dean Mary A. Ward's office.

The opportunities available in the Bay area for entertainment not falling under Group 1. This committee will have a registration period in which any group or individual may register his talent.

FOOTBALL, SOCCER RECEIVE EMBLEMS TODAY, RALLY BOWL

Cream of Athletic Crop Awaits School's Largest Award Test

Awarding of emblems to members of the varsity and jayvee football and soccer squads is slated for today at 12:15 in the rally bowl, according to Commissioner Norman Crane. For the final assembly of the semester Crane said he expected a good turnout to witness the semi-annual event.

A record crowd of athletes will receive their blocks and circles for their work on the gridiron and soccer squads the past semester.

A program to pace the rally has been arranged by Crane, offering talks by Coach Jerry Kenny of the soccer squad, and Dan Farmer representing State's classy casaba battalion.

Betty Williams, campus songstress, punctuates the activities with a few well chosen notes to be warbled during the rally.

Crane asks that all students attend, if humanly possible, stressing that this is the only occasion when the athletes can be thanked for their efforts during the year.

FOOTBALL awards go to—Bruce Bonner, Philip Cali, Gridley Dorr, John Gilkey, Kenneth Gomes, Joseph Gray, Frederick Hinze, Raymond Lang, Ernest Leydecker, George Lorbeer, Carl Magaran, Peter Mirande, Richard Muller, Peter Perry, Isador Pivnick, Werner Steinbach, Robert Stine, Frederick Hanson (manager).

Also on the program will be several numbers by the A Capella Choir, under the direction of Dr. Freeburg. The college symphony orchestra will also appear, led by Dr. Knuth, and both will accompany the other groups and present several solo numbers.

Everyone is invited to attend this final concert of the term, and for many the final concert of their college careers.

Tryouts Scheduled For Extempore Pan-American Talks

As a further aid in promoting friendly relations between the Americas, San Francisco State will play a prominent part in the National Extempore Discussion contest on Inter-American affairs to be held next term, stated Dr. Somerville Thomson today, associate professor of Spanish and chairman of the college participation in the contest.

The tryouts will be held here, and with the four or possibly five winners sent to the district tryouts. Dr. Baxter Geeting, assistant professor of Speech, will be chairman for the district which includes fourteen colleges in Central California.

Tryouts will not be held until the first of next semester. The only instance where the expenses will not be paid will be to the first district meeting held in the Bay area. The winners of this meeting will have their reasonable expenses paid in full to every succeeding tryout.

The itinerary includes Denver, Chicago and New York, with the grand prize being a trip to Latin America.

Anyone interested in competing is urged to see Dr. Thomson as soon as possible for the necessary details and information.

Volunteers Called For Publicity Work

Volunteers for the Defense Program are needed to put announcements in the post boxes, Dean Ward announced.

No talents, except a typing knowledge, are required, she said. About 20 students are needed for this work. Students that are interested should sign up on the bulletin board and report to Mrs. Elsworth, publicity chairman for the group, with their program indicating their free hours.

Women's Gym Hospital Needs Bedding Material

An urgent plea was today sent out by the first aid committee for donations of old but serviceable sheets, blankets and pillowcases.

The committee, composed of the Science and Pre-Nursing clubs, has banded together to establish and man a hospital in case of an air raid or similar emergency during school hours. Forty beds will be set up in the women's gym.

Main difficulty, however, as expressed by Miss Edna Fisher, faculty head of the group, is the lack of covering for the available beds. Students are therefore implored to bring any old sheets, blankets, quilts or pillowcases to the committee.

Turn in such donations to Miss Fisher or the committee members, and remember that their need of today may be yours tomorrow.

We Don't Want Our Money Back

About four and one-half months ago, with great misgiving, we took over the task of editing the Golden Gater for an indefinite period. It is even more indefinite now, and the crisis which has struck may be felt even in journalism with some of the Gater editors holding their posts.

But, to get back to the original story, in that first edition four and one-half months ago, we felt the greatest hurdle that this job held was filling the editorial columns. In our first effort we tried to establish the fact that we were merely "pitchers" who threw opinions and questions at the public in general to stimulate reaction. That reaction we hoped would lead to a lively editorial column that would serve its purpose as a mental stimulant to the campus. Our fondest hopes were realized.

So completely successful was the tactic that we wondered at times if we were going to get out of it with a normal proportion of skin. In several debatable issues we were asked very seriously if we weren't on the verge of getting the "old heave-ho" from the rugged confines of the campus. Apparently we skated dangerously near the thin ice of scholastic suicide.

That is now all water under the bridge. Still, we should like to make it clear that never at any time were the editors of the Gater seeking sensationalism. If at times we were a bit on the yellow side of journalism, blame it on healthy enthusiasm for the cause we love best—printing a newspaper.

Journalism is a strange business; at least, college journalism is. It is a hard, thankless, gruelling job, conducive to cynicism and skepticism.

We are the first to admit that we have been touched, lightly we hope, by the cynical attitude.

We have recorded, to the best of our meager ability, the honesty and the vision, the hopes and the fears, the deceptions and the conceits, the greatness and the pettiness of the life we live here. We have attempted to keep an adequate history of this period that we all shall cherish in the years to come. That has been our job, regardless of whether or not our abilities were equal to the task.

That is journalism. That is the fatal lure, the fascination of journalism. To stand and observe objectively; to feel the pulse of the life about us; to have a ringside seat at the biggest three-ringed circus of all—life being lived. That is journalism. That is why reporters slave, editors curse the day they were born, copy readers threaten suicide and printers take to drink.

Now that some of us are all through, or may be through, we look back without a single regret. It was a great show, it will continue to be a great show. There are no apologies, no curtain calls. Applause or condemnation are accepted casually as part of the game.

But to you, and you, and you, thanks for the show. We don't want our money back.

To the Staff Only:

Thank you is a term I have always thought of as being as indifferent as rain beating on a window pane. We often use it as thoughtlessly as we breathe the air about us. Mere words, like smoke, drift into oblivion and we quickly forget them.

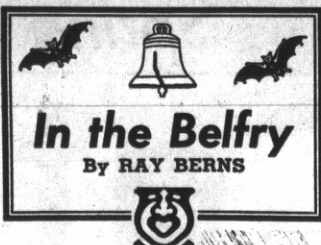

Your loyalty, your friendship, your work, your smiles, your encouragement, all those elements that bountifully enrich living, have been mine. And now there is no adequate way for me to express that deep obligation I feel that I owe.

So until someone overhauls the English language, I can still only say, thanks, and—30.

JACK LYNCH.

"If steel is the basic foundation of modern war, it would be rather dangerous for a power like Japan, whose steel production is only about seven million tons a year, to provoke a struggle with the United States, whose steel production is now about 90,000,000 tons."

"I fear that Japan's goose is a trifle overheated."—Chinese Consul at New Orleans.

Many have asked that, due to the present state of affairs, this farewell column be written in a sober mood and a serious vein. So be it!

In sober mood, due to the present state of affairs, I take my leave. Those two roustabouts, Ivan Tangfoot and the Yogi, also in a sober mood, also due to the present state of affairs, join me wishing you adieu.

The Yogi, consort of Primal Nodex, the arch-type of evil, cousin of Dramcomibus' ex and Vrykolas, and my familiar, will be of undoubted great help as a member of Intelligence, wishes as a member of Intelligence, with his sorcerer's knowledge.

Ivan and I applied and are about to be accepted as co-pilots of a bomber when orders came from headquarters at D. C. to keep us out at all costs. It seems we'd pulled a boner in the aptitude test.

When asked what we'd do when our bombs were all gone, I answered, "First I'd drop the gunner, then the navigator, then the radio operator, then the gunner, then Ivan."

Anyhow, on gathering up my whole entourage of boys and girls including Georgie and Lonnie, Yar Semb, Lin Tin Ho, Fanny, Virile, Iva, and lovely Rollo, Jimmy Winston, Dopey, Sir Logan, Sir Percival, and Sir Isaac Jokefingie, Short-Stuff, Droop-Face, Sloppy-Tie, Heimie, and Pomegranate Blossom, Wun Lung, Young Wun, and Tu Pants, and we're all off to the army for group guidance—group guidance, by the way, is where you go in groups to be guided.

WANDERINGS

By WALLACE

From the yellowed leaves of an ancient scrapbook comes this bit of prose, as timely now as the day it was written:

A STUDENT'S IF
(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling and his followers:—)

If you can keep your head when all about you
Exams are coming fast and frightening you;
If you can trust yourself when teachers doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting, too;
If you can work and will not tire of working
Or being "bawled out" don't frown or get too mad,
Or being "petted" don't give way to shirking,
And yet don't be too good nor yet too bad;

If you can talk and not be caught by teachers,
Or fool a bit, but not make it your aim;
If you can try for ninety and then "reach" er
And make your grade forever or the same;
If you can bear to hear a speech you've spoken,
Laughed at by the students in the school,
Or bear to see the grade you've worked for broken,
And still work to make it high as in the rule;

If you can make a list of all your credits,
And find that you've fallen short by two;
If you can say "I'll win, for I have said it,"
But never use a word like "hard" or "blue";
If you can force your pen and brain and sinew,
To serve your turn until their task is done,
And so hold on until that "something" in you,
Tells you to go on until you've won.

If you can do all these things and still be true blue
And win high honor—nor lose your student touch,
If neither taunts nor laughing jokes can hurt you,
And all students count with you but not too much;
If you can give out that unforgiving minute,
With one whole hour in a make-up room,
Yours is success and all that's with it,
And what is more—you'll graduate quite soon!

With the Cast... ANDERSON

WHEN finals are over, most of us will welcome the opportunity to spend a whole evening laughing. "My Sister Eileen," one of the funniest comedies to make its bow on Broadway during the last season, will offer that opportunity for laughter like no other recent play. It has been playing in New York for a year, and the second company just finished 8 months in Chicago.

Based on the screamingly funny series of short stories by Ruth McKenney, which first appeared in the New Yorker, the sparkle has been retained in the dramatization. It is about two ambitious girls, who leave their home in a Midwest city to seek fame and fortune in New York. They rent a basement apartment in Greenwich Village, and then the fun starts with a series of hilarious adventures involving the girls with the odd people living around them.

Marcy Westcott, who plays the title role of Eileen is a gorgeous blonde, who is making her San Francisco debut in the play. In the East she starred on the stage in three well-known musicals, "Three Bouquets," "The Boys from Syracuse," and "Too Many Girls." The shows in which Miss Westcott appears are so popular that they always run through a whole season, giving the lady scant opportunity to play a variety of roles.

Eileen Afton is seen as Eileen's sister, Ruth. Miss Afton's role is stronger than Miss Westcott's, for Miss Westcott has only to look decorative in her part. There are few who can do that better than Miss Westcott.

The leading male roles are played by Guy Robertson (remembered here in the musical comedy, "The Great Waltz," and Philip Loeb.

Unfortunately the real-life counterpart of Eileen was killed in an automobile accident about a year ago. However, the play has nothing to do with such tragic events, and is nothing but rich comedy all the way through. It is an excellent theatrical foil for "Rose Burke" (at the Curran) and seems to be just what the doctor ordered!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I've got a grouch. There is a law currently being enforced by our Faculty Administration and laid down by the Civil Defense Committee. This law states that all minors must have their parents' consent in order that they can go to school affairs after dark.

All well and good. But this particular minor's parents do not live in San Francisco. (A minor is one who becomes exceedingly embarrassed when the bartender asks for his draft card.) By the time written confirmation arrives, the Board of Publication's Dinner being held tonight which the youth in question would like very much to attend, will be a thing of the past. I repeat, I've got a grouch. Vehemently yours, R. L. W.

Dear Editor:

In reply to the letter of Ellerth Larson, Friday, January 9, I might suggest that a little less criticism and a little more co-operation would help much in our cafe.

Since I've been working with Mrs. Gardner, the cashier, for the last year, I've had the experience of seeing just what is done under the admirable management of Mrs. Nattisger—better known to us as

HOUSE PARTY...

Tomorrow night there will be a party given at the home of Helen Johansen, an ex-Stater. Louise Winter, Donald Joy, Ed Borup, Myra Mae Chase, Rita Balbi, Al Mabey, Richard Wallace, Al Larin, Izzy Pivnick, Ruth Feathers, Peggy Knap, Bill Tobey and many others will form the State contingent to this Saturday night get-together.

STUDENTS DISAPPEAR...

Draft boards and the scholastic axe have whittled the afternoon lab section of Physiology 121 down to six girls and two boys. Helen Welch, Dolores Yngolo, Alice Becker, Cecelia Duncan, "Babs" Webster, Gertrude Brazil, Edward Tom and Richard Wallace are all that remain of the home team.

« Winter Blasts »

WELL, the term is ending on rather a sad note this time. Although the whole world doesn't think so much of this war idea, those of college age probably think less of it than anyone. They are giving up years of training in their chosen fields just to go and prove something that most people already know—that America is the best nation on earth.

Many of the men at State have been drafted, and have gone willingly enough lately, but special mention should go to those who have volunteered their services. Many of them haven't waited to be called, and among the better known of these men in State are Vanick Galstaun and Marcus Davis. They joined one of the toughest branches of the service on January 2—the Marines. Both are well known because of their acting on well-known radio programs, and Van will always be remembered for his splendid performances in Little Theater activities. Mark gave up a promising career to serve his country. These aren't the only ones in State, but they are typical examples. So to you and all your compatriots, we here at State wish to say we are proud of you and what you're doing. We want you to know that we aren't forgetting you, and we're right with you saying: "Chin Up; Cheerio, and Carry On!"

Every noon the Co-op is especially noisy, but at last we have found out who is the noisiest bunch! They are a gang of freshmen and seniors. (What a combination!) Donald Joy (unhappy friend of Van and Mark), Dortha Eskesen, Louise Winter, and John Tilden are the seniors; and Janet Grimm, Russ Brown, and Stu Bennett are the freshmen. They are lively group which forms the nucleus for the singing and laughter heard every day, same place, same time and same station. They say you're welcome if you can laugh!

What is the music department going to do with no men? Of course, they aren't the only ones suffering, but their oratorio concert is certainly going to suffer. Signing off before Christmas with one of their best programs to date, they are now up a tree trying to find equally thrilling oratorios for women's voices.

Speaking of music makes us think of Caesar Orsini, and speaking of Caesar makes us think of the opera house. Is Caesar going to join the army, and if he does will the management of the opera house fold up? Seen at every musical doing in town as the head of ushers in the boxes (no less), he has become a well-known face in music circles. Will he continue to be there? Tune in next time and find out!

The school after 5 p.m. now is one of the most deserted and lonely spots ever seen. Since the ruling of "all-out" in case of blackouts has gone into effect. There is not a soul to be seen after 5. Somehow it is sort of sad, and reminds us that times are not normal.

And what is the Little Theater going to do now that they can't practice at night? No one knows, but everyone is crossing their fingers that something can be figured out so one of State's traditions will not have to be discontinued.

Three cheers for State! It's a great college. If you don't believe it, look what they're doing for national defense. While the rest of the city is squabbling over this and that, our good old college is right on its toes, and is moving ahead fast with all these defense classes in every phase of warfare being given just for the asking. You can not keep a good man down, and we're proving it with our slogan: "We're the ones that are going to set that rising son!"

SWING DOPE...By SCOTTY HOPE

ALL STAR BANDS...

About this time every year the music mags come out with their all star bands. Here is the consensus of opinion from Down Beat, Metronome, and several others. The usual size of a band is 15 pieces so here goes. In the reed section we have Toots Mondello and Benny Carter on alto sax; Charlie Barnett and Tex Beneke on tenor, and Benny Goodman on the clarinet. Jimmie Dorsey and Eddie Miller received a large number of votes in the tenor and alto sax sections, respectively.

The brass section is composed of Harry James, Ziggy Elman, and Roy Eldridge on trumpets, with Tommy Dorsey, Jack Teagarden and Jack Benny on trombone. Other leaders in the brass section included trumpets, Charlie Spivak, Billie Butterfield, and Muggsy Spanier, and trombones, J. C. Higginbotham and Lou McGarthy.

The rhythm section was almost unanimous except for the piano. Gene Krupa on drums, Charlie Christian guitar, and Bobby Haggart on bass. Count Basie and Jess Stacy were neck and neck all the way, with the latter winning out. Frank Sinatra and Helen O'Connell taking vocal honors.

ALONG THE WAY...

Artie Shaw says that his symphonic jazz band is not breaking up. Incidentally, Shaw is back on records again with "Take Your Shoes Off and Start Running Through My Mind" ... Irving Fazzola, one of America's ace licorice stick men (clarinet), has left Thornhill and "jined" Muggsy Spanier ... Record of the year, thus far, is "Moon Nocturne," by Count Basie. Mighty fine sax by Tabs Smith ... Voted as last year's number 1 record was a big surprise.

Then have you heard the one (I sound like the end man in a minstrel show) that happened just after the lights went back on. A man (these men) was rushing yelling, "Has anyone seen my wife and dog? Help me find ... there's a reward for the dog!"

The things you find out in blackouts ... Well ... Well! C. B.

Gene Krupas' "Let Me Off Up-town." Anita O'Day handles the vocal and Ray (Aneetah) Eldridge takes off on a trumpet solo. Junior Ragland of Jerome Richardson has replaced Jimmie Blanton on bass for the Duke. Blanton is ill. Bobby Hackett, trumpet par excellence, is one of America's best guitar strummers.

RECORD CHATTER...

Two novelty records are making the rounds now-a-days. Alvino Rey's "I Said No," and Teddy Powell's "Serenade to a Maid." Watch for Count Basie's "King Joe," with vocal by Paul Robeson. B-6 is back in the groove with four A-1 disks. "The Earl," "That Did it, Marie," "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place," and "Buckle Down Winssocki."

Chief corn of the month is "Modern Design" by Sammy Kaye. Below are my humble ideas on the bands of last year (just in case you are interested):

Best All-Around Band—1) Benny Goodman, 2) Duke Ellington, 3) Stan Kenton.

Best Jump Bands—1) Benny Goodman, 2) Count Basie, 3) Jimmie Lunceford.

Best Sweet and Slow Band—1) Tommy Dorsey, 2) Gene Krupa (surprise), 3) Benny Goodman.

Corniest Bands of Year—1) Sammy Kaye, 2) Glenn Miller, 3) Blue Barron, etc., and Guy Lombardo. Biggest Flop of the Year—Artie Shaw's band that was always coming out with a revolutionary style.

Up and Comingest Band—Stan Kenton.

That's all for now, except to remember, "We did it before, and we can do it again."

Luigi's Libation... (Thanks)

By LUIGI REPETTO

A certain downtown hack whose weekly pay check is made out to Harry Borba has accused San Francisco State's hard working publicity man, Dave Schutz, of putting the "whammy" on Coach Dan Farmer's high-flying quintet after the quints had scored nine wins in a row.

As we like always to include a letter in this department, today we are writing an open letter to the writer of "Side Lines":

Dear Harry:

Just a couple of lines to let you know that we are all feeling good and hope you are, too. (Yeah!) In your Sunday morning communication you gave San Francisco State some 30 inches of swell publicity.

Now that's the sort of stuff we would like to see you print more frequently. Thanks, chum.

Until you wrote this saga of State we never knew you were superstitious. We always thought that a "whammy" was something living on Jupiter, and now it comes out as meaning a hoodoo, or a curse on one particular subject.

DOT AND DASH

Heck, Harry, we can't see that point at all. Why, just last Friday, in this same department, we threw bouquets at Long Dan; we played up the exploits of Dot and Dash (Emil Fanfelle and Tom McCarty, respectively), we even boosted, through T. M. Kilpatrick, Esq., that our lads were good enough to put the quietus on U. S. F. or any other big college team.

And so what happens. Our boys who, as you say, had been whammied at least ten times in our little composition, went out and plastered a fighting Cal Aggie squad two times in a row. Now, Mr. Borba, try and make us believe in fairy tales!

Then to make us all here at the Hermann street institution feel better, you went ahead and closed your column with a tiny paragraph stating how lax our eligibility rules are.

WORK AND PLAY

Well, Harry, for that last statement of yours, we suggest that you come over and take a look at our boys in action. Every one of them came to State of his own accord. There was no check for tuition and some easy NYA job waiting for them. There were no city newspaper cameramen to take their pictures as they registered.

There were no downtown reporters and wire service representatives to take their names and write glowing stories of the prospects that were entering the fire-trap on Hermann street.

No, there was none of this. There was only promise of playing basketball under the hands of one of the best casaba coaches on the coast. There was a chance to gain an education at an institution that would, if they worked and studied, give them a chance to go out and teach Farmer's principles of the game to junior and senior high school lads who one day will become stars of a Farmer-coached coach.

So there, Harry, please try to understand our position. And Harry, see if you can persuade some of these uppity coaches of the bigger schools to give us a game, and then watch us make good.

Just one more little thought, Harry. Whatever shortcomings we may have (and who has none?), we are definitely a part of the educational system of the great State of California. Does that weigh anything?

Be seeing you around,

LUIGI REPETTO,

Sports Editor.

There you are fellows, our own little missive to Harry Borba, the writer of Side Lines.

THANKS—AND "30"

This being the last edition of the fall semester of 1941-42, we want to thank every one of you who have contributed something to the making of this sports page. We have heard all your criticisms and you can be assured that they have not gone to waste. It was your constructive criticism that enabled us to put out a page which improved with each edition.

Oh, yes, we nearly forgot to thank those Upper field rail birds, Jim Witt, Larry Sullivan, "Hank" Nazar, Phil Cali, Aime Hourcade and Gridley Dorr for all the cabages and help they threw our way.

Boxers Take 1942 Intra Casaba Crown; Complete Statistics

Winner and new 1941-42 Intramural basketball champion is the Boxer team of the American league, which this week triumphed twice over an equally superior opponent, the P. E. 94 squad of the National division.

Playing in the Women's gym, the ring men breezed to an easy win over a slightly bewildered group of P. E.'s by a 35-23 margin. George Drolette and Jack Flemer starred for the winners, sinking 19 points between the two of them.

In a thrill packed game which saw the spectators go completely mad at times, was the second affair played last Wednesday at the Salvation Army gym. Meeting the Boxers for the second time, the P. E. lads really went on a tear and started out to make a name for themselves.

P. E. 94's TAKE OVER

Behind 8-6 at half-time, Coach Hal Harden's soccer class tore loose, with "Shorty" Kim, "Hank" Apostle and Georgie Lorbeer combining to build up a 16-10 lead over the slowed-up Boxers.

Infuriated at this startling change of pace, the Boxers came back and grabbed the lead on buckets by Goettel, Hinze and Olson. Seeing their lead chopped down, the P. E.'s came back and tied it up at 18-18. With less than two minutes to go, "Shorty" Kim put the gym boys back into the lead and then had the fisticuffs come back and tie up the contest at 20-20 on Goettel's field goal.

Just as the whistle blew signifying the end of the regular playing period, Flemer was fouled by Jack Gilkey. Flemer went to the free-throw line and missed the charity toss, which prolonged the agony another five minutes.

GAME GOES OVERTIME

Never in the history of State intramural finals has there been such a hectic overtime period. Hinze opened up for the Boxers with a field goal, which was quickly equaled by Apostle. Another bucket by Hinze and one by Goettel gave the ring men a four point margin which was quickly erased by two sinkers by Lorbeer.

Victory came for the Boxers when Goettel plopped a free-throw through the hoop for the 27 point.

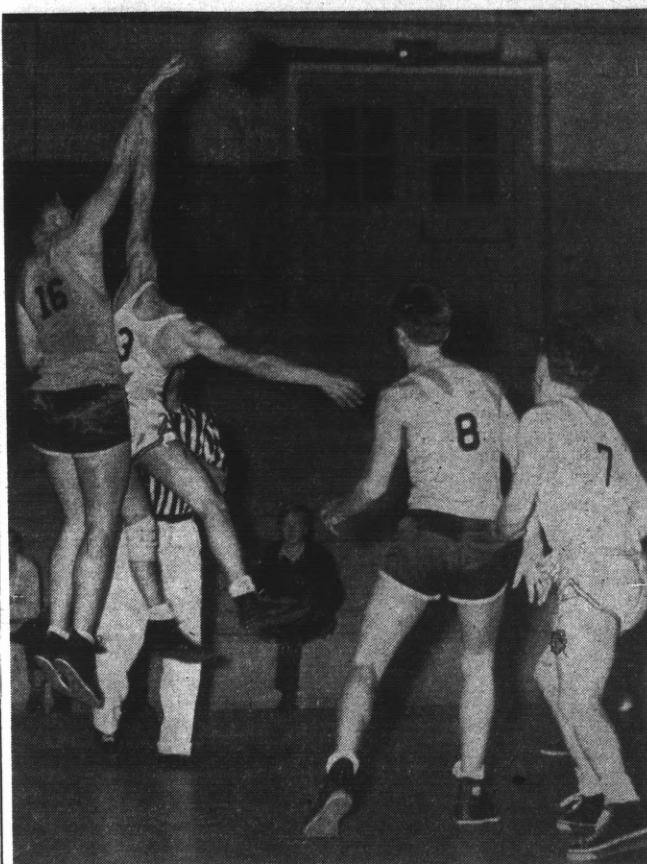

COMPLETE STATISTICS GIVEN

As the season is now officially over, the statistics show that the Boxers were the highest scoring quintet in both leagues, with a total of 341 digits, as compared with the Newman Club's 224, and Sigma Pi Sigma's 138. Statistics compiled by the Gater sports staff give Dick Murray of the Newman Club high point honors with 104 points, with Phil Goettel following him with 91. In third place is Jack Flemer, who scored 80 markers. In fourth place, George Drolette with 75 tallies, and in fifth place is Grove Mohr of Newman with 58.

Gus Comes Through

Up for a high one goes tall Carl "Gus" Gustafson, San Francisco State's sterling guard. Lanky Gus was one of Coach Dan Farmer's big guns during the past two game series with Cal Aggies. Gustafson's 14 points in the second encounter enabled State to come from behind to win, 46-40.

Shinkickers Form 145-lb. Hoop Squad Defeat Freshmen

Inter-collegiate soccer officially ended November 29, but State's shinkickers are still playing—basketball.

A new, 145-pound hoop team was formed this week to meet the demands of students who could not play varsity or freshman ball. But when the team reported for the first practice Wednesday afternoon, it was discovered that every man out for the squad had already won a varsity letter in soccer this year.

Playing against the freshmen in the first practice session, the 145's won a moral victory over the frosh because of the difference between the squads in organization and the length of practice.

The lightweight squad is already dicker for games and expects to begin playing local club teams immediately. The soccer - basketballers out so far are Archie Steinbach, Werner Steinbach, Gridley Dorr, Kenny Young, John Finn and Manuel Morena. More men are expected to report for practice soon.

Baseballers Start Play February 2nd

Baseball practice will begin on February 2, according to baseball coach Hal Harden. Practice will be held on the lower field and on city baseball diamonds. All students taking intercollegiate baseball are requested by Coach Harden to leave their 3 o'clock classes open.

Returning veterans will be Jim Keating and Dick Murray, pitchers; Leo Fredrickson and Pete Mirande, outfielders, and Ed Patrick, infielder.

Missing from the roster will be Bob Moore, hard-hitting first baseman; Ray Henson, rugged catcher; Earl Howard, fleet outfielder; Carl Haas, George Mailho and George Jackson from the mound staff.

Junior Dribblers Drop Two More In Losing Streak

State's freshman basketball squad lost two games to local high school quints last Friday and Saturday nights.

Friday night's encounter saw the Gaters lose to Mission High school by a count of 29 to 18.

State led the Bears 12 to 10 at the half but were overpowered in the late stages of the game. Bill Callas, lanky center, was high point man for State with seven digits.

On Saturday night the Commerce Bulldogs trimmed the Gaters, 37 to 21. Commerce led at the half, 19 to 12. Dave Braga, southpaw guard, had nine points to pace the State attack.

Dick Boyle's cagers face the San Francisco Junior College reserves tonight at the Ram's gym. Coach Boyle says, "I can't promise a win, but a lot of new faces will be seen in action tonight."

Athletic Schedule Not to Be Changed

State's athletic teams will be hard hit by a decrease in the number of men attending college next semester, according to Dean of Men David J. Cox.

Even though the teams will lack some man power, the regular athletic schedule will be followed.

"Men of lesser ability will be able to make the teams next semester, so anyone who would like to try out for any team will be welcomed by the coaching staff," said Dean Cox.

Torpedoing the mesh for a total of 96 points, State's basketballers left their Cal Aggie rivals wallowing in the mire of defeat both nights they played. Coach Farmer's five are now batting 916, having won 11 out of 12 games played.

Tennis Champions Plunge Into New Net Season Today

Coach Dan Farmer announced officially today the opening of another tennis season. "This year, more than ever," stated the mighty Farmer, "the team is out to beat all and retain the coveted Northern California Tennis trophy which they won last year after many a hard-fought match."

No, there won't be any Hal Wagners or Jack Witts, and it is doubtful of the return of Ray Berns, to carry the brunt of the attack as they did last year.

Racquet wielders of the present era are Harry Coleman and Dick Schwab, both members of last year's title-winning outfit. Up and comers are such notables as Ross Furneaux, Don Forbes, Mario Vasquez and Basil Pritchard.

Practice is starting right away, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 11 to 1, on the upper and lower courts. Anybody with tennis aspirations are urged to come out. Bring your racquet, the tennis balls will be furnished by Coach Farmer.

Farmer's faultless five came back with a vengeance tonight to blast a bewildered, beaten Cal Aggie quintet off the Kezar mapleswoods at 50-35.

The first half was marked by the somewhat sloppy ball-handling and wild passing of the reptiles, the Aggies even taking an 8-6 lead early in the game.

Knocking the tally immediately, however, was the ole master, McCarty, at 8-8. From here the Purple and Gold forged ahead slowly, laboriously into a miserable 16-10 lead at halftime.

TEAM REJUVENATED

Big Dan's dandys must have received some strong talk during that halftime. For it was a slashing, fighting, hard rebounding pair of guards in Keating and Gustafson, and a snappy-passing, fast-breaking, quick-cutting forward wall in Keller, McCarty and Fanfelle, who took the court for the second half.

Without hesitation, State's Buchanan basketweavers widened their 16-10 lead to 23-18 to 30-22. From here on out the game was a rout for the Alligators.

The second squad led by George Lorbeer, who pocketed eight markers for the evening, then took over, continuing State's scoring spree to its final 50-35 triumph.

Housing Authority In Econ Lecture To Students, Faculty

"The difference between that small word h-o-u-s-e and housing is tremendous," declared Miss Catherine Bauer, internationally recognized housing authority, to a large number of sociology and economic students and teachers last Friday morning in the campus Little Theater.

Miss Bauer very briefly traced the historical development of housing and then proceeded with a concise analysis of the main factors in the housing problem. These, she stated, were the "handles" by which the problem might be grasped. They were:

1. The Social "handle."
The fact that two-thirds of the entire population live in sub-standard homes while only one-third can afford to own a home which fulfills the minimum needs of shelter.

2. The Civic "handle."
The relation of the cost of conditions resulting from bad housing, i.e., crime, disease, to taxes.

3. The Economic "handle."
Means by which the lower two-thirds can purchase homes, such as through subsidy, reduction of interest rates, lowering of the cost of building materials.

4. The technical "handle."
New and better methods to supplant the backwardness and obsolete practices of the building industry.

5. The Political "handle."
Realization of large scale planning and construction through the exertion of controls to curb graft, corruption and political dispute.

Miss Bauer is a graduate of Vassar and studied housing and architecture in Vienna while on a Guggenheim Fellowship. She has traveled extensively and is the author of several books, among which "Modern Housing" is recognized as a necessary guide-book for all housing officials.

Sponsors Needed If Talent Shows Seek Recognition

When there is a call for entertainment, the student-faculty committee will approve of the number to be presented. Any group representing the college must have a faculty sponsor.

All individuals who are minors must have the approval of parents to participate in activities after 5 p. m.

Watch for the announcement of the registration date by the student-faculty committee on entertainment.

The coordinating committee on entertainment consists of Dr. Baxter F. Geeting, chairman; Miss Eileen McCall, Miss Geraldine Jackson, Miss Jessie Casebolt, Miss Bernice Van Gelder, George Fenneman, Bob Sweeney, and two young women to be named by the student Executive Board.

Parent-Faculty Club Urges Staters to Watch Gater

Mrs. Ignatius Trapani, president of the Parent-Faculty club at State, in urging members and friends to "Watch your Gater" for dates of meetings, says "that due to the emergency many activities will be curtailed, and this means that to continue assistance to our student welfare policy a larger membership is expected."

Meetings will be as short as possible, but will be of value to all who have the welfare of students at heart. Following are changes in the published programs:

1. Cancellation of the Swift Luncheon, scheduled for March.
2. Bridge dessert and Fashion Show planned for February 25 has been temporarily canceled.

So far no change has been made in plans for a joint Founders Day program by the Parent-Faculty Club and the Frederic Burk P.T.A. on Wednesday, February 11. Please note, and plan to attend.

Ex. Board Notes

The 14th regular meeting of the Executive Board was called to order at 12:10 p.m. by President Jean Van Arsdale. Pat Gillick and Julia Wessenberg were noted absent. Curt Butties and Dick Gordon were noted late.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS:

1. A report of the total amount of stories, pictures and inches that have been published in the newspaper for Fall '41 was given by Dave Schutz. Approximately 210 stories, 38 pictures and 1122 inches have been published.

2. The letter sent to Bob Sweeney, past president of the student body, regarding the Granat Bros. bill has been returned to the college since it was not claimed by him, due to teaching out of the city.

COUNCIL REPORTS:

Rally: Norm Crane informed the Board of a rally to be held this Friday, January 16, in the rally bowl.

Speech Arts: Mr. Frank Gillio reported on the full program that the Radio Guild has been participating in. Several programs are heard on the air.

Music: Dick Gordon announced that a free concert will be given on January 19 at 12 o'clock in the First Baptist church.

OLD BUSINESS:

The insurance policy payments are paid up until the beginning of the semester, starting September 1942.

Al Gorla reported that the Board will be able to meet during the evening next semester.

Discussion on whether to change the position of Director of Student Affairs into two different positions, that of a publicity director and a secretary to aid the student body treasurer. Dorothy Poppiano moved, and seconded by Vi Nicoloff, that the job of Director of Student Affairs remain in existence for the coming semester, and any necessary changes will be made at the end of next semester. Motion carried.

NEW BUSINESS:

Emphasis was given to programs that are given outside of the college for National Defense. They should be met with the approval of the committee in charge, which in turn will O. K. any such entertainment or performance that is to be given under the name of State College.

Curt Butties moved, seconded by Gillio, that a certain date be set aside for a Red Cross Day on the campus. Motion carried. Jean Van Arsdale, Vi Nicoloff and Dorothy Poppiano will handle the affair.

As there was no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 1:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
DOROTHY POPPIANO,
Secretary of A.S.S.F.C.

Science Group Names Officers At Annual Banquet

Banqueting this week at Bernstein's chic fish grotto, Beta Pi Sigma climaxed a term of continuous activity by initiating new members. During the course of the dinner entertainment was provided by the antics of the pledges, as they went through the final stages of their informal initiation.

After the last course had disappeared, the air of levity was pushed aside and the formal initiation carried out by retiring president Alan Kruszberger and sponsor Dr. Robert O. Rowe.

Those who became full members include: George Youngdale, Clarence Ragsdale, Ruth Morse, Chlorine McGuire, Elsie Pon, Mrs. D. K. Buff, Dorothy Ballard, Velma Hammond and Paul Scholten.

In addition to Miss Bergman, the other officers announced were: Clay Andrews, taking over the vice-president job; Chlorine McGuire as secretary, and Myrtle Burgess continuing on as treasurer.

Parent-Teachers In First Meeting Of New Year

As America turns from peace to war, the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Frederic Burk unit begins the New Year by holding its first meeting Thursday, January 15, at 1:30 p.m., stated Mrs. Grace C. Leathurby, principal of Frederic Burk school.

Following the discussion, tea will be served by student-teachers in Miss Cecelia Anderson's department.

In conjunction with the panel discussion devoted to "Consumer Information," the Parent-Teachers, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. McFarland, will also consider the activities of the various committees, composed of student-teachers. One of these committees (Tinfoil) has just received its second blue ribbon for its excellent service.

Betty Baer, head of the Tinfoil committee, urges all students to contribute as much tinfoil as possible so that the January drive, ending the third week of this month, will be successful.

Art Fed Elections For Spring Term Tuesday

Elections of Art Federation officers for the spring term will be held on Tuesday in Room 212, during the noon hour, stated Herb Simon, club president.

The following names were recommended by the Executive Board as nominees: Dolores Garcia for president, Bill Higgins and Mary Tunger for vice-president, Rosemary Minnaker and Bernice Cook for secretary, Herb Wright and Joe Higgins for treasurer.

Anyone wishing to run must have a petition filed by Monday.

An inauguration dinner for the new officers will take place on January 30 at 7:30 in the evening at the Paris restaurant.

will sponsor a tag sale, registration day. Each tag will represent a defense stamp. A raffle will be held soon after and the holder of the lucky tag number will win the defense bond.

Sigma Gamma Sigma, the official co-educational college service fraternity, is co-operating under the guidance of Dean Ward with the defense effort. Members will join hall and building committees, fire squads, first aid groups and anything else where volunteers are needed.

Sigma Alpha Eta Elects Officers For New Quarter

Meeting at the residence of Al Gorla last Sunday, Sigma Alpha Eta wound up the semester activities by electing officers and initiating the last of this term's pledges.

Positions filled found Al Gorla heading the list as the spring prexie, with Dick Gordon seconding him in the vice-president's chair. William Keesey was selected as secretary, and Bruce McDonald as treasurer.

Following the dinner, which featured the evening, the new pledges were solemnly given their formal initiation. This completed the period of pledgeship and the neophytes, Bruce McDonald, Herb Simon and William Keesey, were welcomed into the fraternity as full brothers.

Dr. Stanley Morse, head of the science department and sponsor of the fraternity, then added a cordial welcome and pointed out the ideals and aims of the organization for next term. The usual scholarship will be awarded, and new pledges selected who meet the stiff scholastic and extra-curricular requirements of the honor fraternity.

Freshman Ruling Will Affect Sports Policy

A decision to allow freshmen to play varsity sports for the duration of the war, made by the California Collegiate Athletic Association on January 9, will slightly affect S. F. State in its relations with the four colleges in that league, it was announced today.
